Blaine's Journey from New York to Philadelphia.

THE COMING CONTEST IN OHIO

Butler Opens the Campaign in Massachusetts With a Characteristic Speech—Cheering News from Washington

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—James G. Blaine breakfasted this morning with Congressman Phelps, Meredith Reade, late minister to Greece, and Walker Blaine. Immediately afterward he left the hotel in a carriage, unaccompanied. He returned at noon, and received a number of calls, many of them of a social nature. He was called upon this afternoon by a delegation from the Union League club of this city. A committee from the Union League club of Philadelphia will later escort him to the Pennsylvania depot, en route for Philadelphia. Blaine will return here from Philadelphia Tuesday night. Wednesday morning he will leave the city for Syracuse.

CHURCH PEOPLE RECEIVED

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—This afternoon Rev J. F. Carley, Catholic priest at West Point, called on Blaine and presented him with a gold-headed cane, voted the republican candidate for the presidency by 1600 majority at a fair at the West Point Catholic church. Shortly after Father Carley's departure a delegation of Methodist clergymen, numbering ninety, paid their respects to Mr Blaine. They represented churches in this city, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Newark. The reverend gentlemen were introduced by Dr James King of the Eighteenth street M E church.

Blaine lunched with his son Walker, and afterward received members of the republican state committee, with each of whom he shook hands and conversed a few minutes. A delegation from the Union League club of Philadelphia also made their visit, without any formality.

At 4 a committee of fifty of the Union League club of New York appointed by the club to co-operate with the republican national committee, together with about 150 other members of the club, assembled in the main parlor of the hotel, where Blaine went to meet them. The delegation was headed by Henry Clews, Cornelius N Bliss, and the Rev Dr Armitage.

AN ADDRESS READ

Charles S Smith read an address on behalf of the committee. It said, in part: "We claim to be a body of men who ask not for ourselves, and only seek good government and wise policy. I am directed by my friends who surround me to say it is their most emphatic conviction that the question of questions to be decided in the coming presidential election which dominates all others, is this: Shall the American idea of tariff for the protection of American labor and industries be maintained as a settled policy? We, sir, utterly repudiate the unAmerican and democratic doctrine of a tariff for revenue only. We claim this is the only question now worthy of discussion. We pledge to you, sir, the hearty support of an overwhelming majority of this club. If there should be a small remnant of a minority of our members who may desire to desert their party on election day, it will be because they love free trade."

BLAINE'S RESPONSE.

Blaine responded as follows: "Gentlemen of the Union League Club—I desire, in response to your cordial welcome, to express the deep obligation I feel for the courtesy you have shown me by this call. The history of the Union League Club of New York is inseparably identified with the most critical period in the history of the Union. No one who has followed our national progress for the past quarter of a century can be insensible of the great aid which your organization rendered in the crisis of the civil war. Since the return of peace you have been distinguished by your adherence to sound political principles, and by the weight of your influence have done much to promote wise legislation, and to lead public opinion in channels of safety. I wish again to return my thanks for your kindness, and to express my profound appreciation of the kindly assurances you give of your sympathy and support."

HE LEAVES NEW YORK

Blaine left the hotel to take the 6 10 P M train for Newark, New Jersey, where he will stop for a short time. He was accompanied by Chairman B F Jones and Secretary Fessenden of the national committee, S B Elkins, Senator Eugene Hale, ex-Governor A. B. Cornell and Postmaster Manley of Augusta, and a delegation from the Philadelphia Union League. The party will proceed to Philadelphia to-night. The train will stop at Elizabeth, Rahway, New Brunswick and Trenton. Blaine will return here late to-morrow night.

AT NEWARK, NEW JERSEY.

NEWARK, N J, Sept. 22.—The reception of Blaine here to-day was very enthusiastic. The special train which brought him and party from New York reached Newark at 7 o'clock. The streets were thronged with an enthusiastic crowd from the depot to the house of Hon Geo Halsey, where the public exercises were held. The Blaine party, in carriages, were escorted by various uniformed companies. From a platform in front of Halsey's residence Blaine was introduced by Courtland K. Parker, who welcomed him in a few graceful words. Blaine was received with loud cheers. He responded to the greeting as follows:

My friends: I have known before, from my experience, of the hospitality of a New Jersey welcome, but this scene to-night surpasses at once my experience and my expectation. It would be idle in me to deny that I see in it a significance which it might not be becoming in me to express. I am grateful for these renewed evidences of New Jersey to myself, and to the cause I represent. More than this I need not say, other than to wish you a hearty good night.

Mr Blaine was succeeded by William Walter Phelps, who referred to New Jersey's welcome to Mr. Blaine, and spoke of the record Blaine had achieved in fostering the important industries of that state.

After Phelps, the Hon Mr Pangborn spoke for a few minutes, when the procession escorted Blaine back to his train, which went on to Trenton.

IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—It was midnight when the Blaine train entered the depot, and no demonstration was expected but a great many people made their way into the depot and cheered as Blaine alighted. Outside there was a large crowd, and they were so enthusiastic that it required all the efforts of the police in attendance to prevent them from carrying Blaine off on their shoulders.

Blaine was driven to the hotel, and went immediately to his room. A heavy shower drove the crowd into the hotel lobby, when the demonstration was renewed, and it was only after Walker Blaine appeared on the stairs leading from the lobby and begged the enthusiastic crowd to permit his father to have a quiet rest after an arduous day's work that the crowd dispersed, cheering for the republican candidate.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Press says: "The reception of Blaine Tuesday night, and the grand ratification meeting will be events of the campaign here. The parade of political organizations, to be reviewed by Blaine, will be one of the largest and most striking the city has ever seen. To-morrow he will be overwhelmed with callers. In the afternoon he is invited to visit the electrical exhibition. Among the speakers of the evening will be Hannibal Hamlin."

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY

Butler Opens the Campaign in Massachusetts—An Appeal to the Workingmen.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The people's party opened its campaign at Lynn to-night by a reception to General Butler and two immense rallies at Music hall and the Coliseum. A great crowd greeted the general as he alighted from the train and was driven to the residence of J. N. Buffum, where he took tea.

After supper, General Butler and Senator Grady were driven to Music hall, which was packed. Moses M. Libby presided and introduced General Butler as the people's candidate. The general briefly returned thanks for his cordial reception, and said he did not think it was the people's candidate which had attracted so many, but the deep interest which every right-minded citizen had in the welfare of the country. He had not come to say anything bad about any man, but would say, frankly, that there were more bad men in the republican party than in the democratic party. The republican party was responsible for all this. It was a grand old party when it started, he knew something about it, for he helped make it. It was formed to free 4,000,000 slaves. That party came into power, and after a time the railroad men began to turn to it until it became the party of monopolists, and so he left it and went over to the democrats. They had not had a president for twenty years and had done nothing. They had no opportunity to do anything, and nothing could be said against men who had done nothing. The democrats had elected but one president in twenty years, and then he didn't have pluck enough to take his seat. [Laughter.]

A PANACEA OFFERED

The general said he had just returned from a 6000 or 7000 mile journey through the west. He spoke of the great crops raised in Iowa and Wisconsin, and everywhere in the west he spoke of the trouble in getting these crops to market. We did not get them at the east as we should. The difficulty was with the middlemen, through whose hands they passed, and to a false system of finance. Another difficulty was in the handling of freights. There were the "black line," the "white line," the "Star line," etc., but nobody ever heard of the "People's line." [Laughter.] "We are fighting for the good cause of freedom. Laboring men, vote then for three, four or five years together, and if your votes don't do any good, then go back to your old party, but try it a little while."

General Butler warmly recommended Representative Lovering, the labor congress candidate in the sixth district, and urged his election. "Whether he is for Blaine, Butler or Cleveland, if you find a man," he said, "who works against you, vote against him. If you find one that works for you, elect him."

The general closed by saying that when he had witnessed the sorrow of the poor and lowly at Wendell Phillips' funeral he had said, "What greater reward on earth can any man have?"

The general spoke to a large audience in the Coliseum, after the Music Hall meeting.

THE CAMPAIGN IN OHIO

Republican Leaders Working Vigorously all Over the State

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—There has been a wonderful activity set going on the republican side since the victory in Maine, partly because of the hope and encouragement thus given, partly because money has been furnished where there was a dearth before, and partly because the real opening of the campaign here has been purposely delayed until everything required could be furnished to make the state one scene of activity, from Lake Erie to the Ohio river. That programme is already well opened. Monster meetings, the formation and equipment of clubs, the personal efforts of hundreds of active local missionaries, the use of all lawful machinery and the thundering of the united republican press, can be looked for from now until the election in October. The presence of Logan already, the personal work of Sherman in the southern part of the state, and of Foster in the northern, with a promise of an early call from Blaine himself, will call out much of the old time enthusiasm, and show the world that if Ohio is to be the battle ground the fight will not be lost by Ohio republican cowardice. The people are beginning to wake up, to turn out and hear, and to talk politics, and, as in all national issues in this state, the advantage is on the side of the republicans. At present the republicans are holding debates, on the stump and in the press, on the tariff question, and the business relations and prosperity of the country that are attached thereto.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLAN

The democrats are making a great struggle to capture the votes of the workingmen, showing their purpose in many local nominations, in the tone of their newspaper columns and in their purpose of making all possible capital out of labor troubles, wherever they may happen and from whatever cause. A groundless attempt has been made to charge the responsibility of the mining war in the Hocking valley on the republican party, and Governor Hoadly's connection therewith has been toward the strengthening of this claim. These facts show that the democrats see the force of the tariff arguments and will do anything in their power to break the force of the republican arguments and logic of the actual facts of the case.

It is no wild claim to say that the republican leaders are more hopeful and confident than was thought possible a month ago. They now claim the state by from 15,000 to 20,000 in October, and say that it will be safe for Blaine beyond any question in November. The latter proposition is based on the assumption that there are many Irishmen who will cast their vote for Blaine but who will give the democrat a state ticket their support in October.

NEWS FROM COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The republicans are flooding the state with brilliant campaign orators, most of whom are men of national reputation. Sullivan, the "Irish Demosthenes," as his republican friends style him, will speak in this city on Tuesday next. He will be followed on Wednesday by John Sherman and later in the week by "Pig Iron" Kelley of Pennsylvania. Sullivan will address himself chiefly to the Irish and Irish Americans, while Sherman and Kelly will expound the virtues of protection.

The democrats will have a notable gathering on September 27th, when Hendricks, John G. Carlisle, Joe Blackburn and other brilliant luminaries are to speak, and the occasion, it is believed, will bring together more men of real prominence than any other during the campaign. There is still great uncertainty about Mr Blaine's movements. It has been thought he would arrive next Thursday, and deliver four or five speeches as he journeys through the state en route to Indianapolis. It is reported, however, that his arrival will be postponed until about the 1st of October. His presence here is expected to create immense enthusiasm.

LOGAN'S MOVEMENTS

CANTON, O., Sept. 22.—A special train bearing General Logan and escort committee, left Youngstown for Alliance at 9 o'clock this morning. At Alliance the party were met at the depot by three republican clubs, and escorted to the public square, where Logan and others addressed 4000 people. The train proceeded to Massillon, Ohio, where the speakers were escorted to the central part of the city, and addressed an immense concourse. At 4 o'clock the train returned to Canton. In the evening there were a monster torchlight procession, and speaking in the wigwam and opera house, by Logan, Kelley, General Beaver, McKinley and others. Logan goes to Akron, Ohio, to-morrow.

SCREWING UP THEIR COURAGE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.] The Times this morning says: "Let our independent republican friends in Ohio give themselves no uneasiness about the effect of an October victory in this state upon the election of the following month. Blaine is beaten already, and no majority that Ohio can give her republican state ticket will ever avert or lessen the disaster with which the honest voters of this country are prepared to overwhelm him."

CHEERING NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

Republicans More Confident of Success than Ever Before.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Last week closed with a greater feeling of confidence among the republicans than at any previous stage of the campaign. On every hand may be seen smiling faces, and nothing is heard but words of cheer and congratulation upon the prospect. The magnetic presence of Blaine, as he mingles with the people, is already felt, and has quickened the pulse of every republican in the land. Mulligan's discharge was effective only in its recoil upon those who were handling the gun. Rarely in the history of our politics has a great effort so signally and utterly failed of its purpose. Blaine's frank and manly letter to Phelps sets at rest forever the hideous and abominable libel upon his domestic relations. It is said that Blaine has gained much in strength this week, and that the tide has fairly set in that will overwhelm all opposition. This is the drift of republican opinion and feeling in Washington, as shown by talk among large numbers of callers at the rooms of the republican committee.

HOPEFUL LETTERS FROM OHIO

To-day the mails brought an unusually large number of letters from Ohio, all of which, without an exception, breathed the same spirit of confidence in the result. Three or four letters from General Warner's district predicted the certain election of Taylor, republican, to congress, notwithstanding Warner's large margin. Secretary MacPherson, whose particular function it is to watch closely the congressional districts, thinks the republicans are reasonably certain to gain four or six members in Ohio, and possibly more.

Democrats here have pretty much abandoned their claim upon Ohio. They are talking now as they did of Maine. They say they are going to keep the republican majority down in October to 10,000 or 20,000, and then they are sure to carry the state for Cleveland in November. They say that a great many thousand votes will be cast for Robinson in October that the following month will go to St John, Butler and Cleveland.

NEW YORK AND PENNSYLVANIA

The great parades in honor of Blaine in New York and Philadelphia, are confidently expected to arouse the enthusiasm of the masses in those great cities, the result of which will be immediately felt. The observation of S. J. Randall the other day that he regarded Pennsylvania as a doubtful state, elicited from a republican here the remark that the only doubt about Pennsylvania was whether it would be 100,000 or 200,000 for Blaine. A Philadelphia democrat who was in Washington to-day said that Randall's hopes of Pennsylvania were based upon the fusion of all the elements opposed to Blaine, a plan for which had been fully matured and would be consummated immediately after the October elections in Ohio and West Virginia.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

EGYPT

EGYPTIAN NOTES.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Reports that the siege of Khartoum had collapsed, which reached Cairo from various sources, are confirmed by official telegrams.

Preparations for the despatch of a camel corps to the Soudan are continued with unabated vigor. Men who have enlisted for this service will proceed to Egypt in the transports Deccan and Australia, instead of the Erin, as first intended. The admiralty give notice that 500 of the men expecting to sail in the Deccan and Australia will probably be delayed only a few days and then proceed on the Erin.

AFFAIRS AT KHARTOUM

CAIRO, Sept. 22.—A dispatch from the French consul of Khartoum has been received, confirming previous reports that the siege of that city had been raised. The dispatch further states that the country in the neighborhood of Khartoum is freed from rebels, and the obtaining of food and supplies is comparatively easy.

NOTES FROM CAIRO.

CAIRO, Sept. 22.—It is reported that El Mahdi intends to reinforce his troops operating before Khartoum.

Friendly Amarars again defeated the Handendows, and the latter appealed to Osman Digma for assistance. The Amarars lost thirty killed in the encounter.

FRANCE PROTESTS

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is affirmed from Cairo that the French consul there has been instructed by his government to make a formal demand on Nubar Pasha, Egyptian prime minister, for the withdrawal of the letter issued the 17th inst., suspending the sinking fund.

WILL STOP FORWARDING TROOPS

LONDON, Sept 22.—General Lord Wolseley has telegraphed the war office to stop forwarding troops to Egypt for the present. It is believed that the expedition for the relief of Khartoum will be reduced to a flying column, owing to the favorable news from General Gordon.

ENGLAND

NEW COMPLICATIONS ARISEN

LONDON, September 22.—A Shanghai dispatch to the Times says: A new complication has arisen in the Franco-Chinese difficulty. A blockade at the mouth of the Woo Sung river has been ordered by the Chinese authorities, although a passage for ships of neutrals is to be left. The action is due to the Chinese disbelief in the promises of the French. A veritable panic prevails at Shanghai and merchants of the neutral powers have asked naval commanders of the powers to take some action. The British consul has advised the Chinese authorities to obtain skilled English assistance to keep traffic open. The Russian consuls have offered to protect French interests wherever French consuls leave. The Russian fleet in Chinese waters comprises one iron-clad, three cruisers, two privateers and six gunboats. Three other iron-clads are expected to arrive. This strength in view of the smallness of the Russian fleet, China considers significant.

MARK LANE REVIEW.

LONDON, Sept 22.—The Mark Lane Express in its weekly review of the corn trade, says: "Fine hot weather causes very favorable conditions for next year's crop, and values declined. Sales of English wheat this week were 14,130 quarters at 33s 10d, against 80,144 quarters at 41s 9d the corresponding week last year. In the foreign trade there has been a further decline and values are only nominal. The off coast trade is confined to a few Australian cargoes and one American which sold at 32s 3d. There were ten arrivals during the week and seven sales. Two cargoes were withdrawn and five remained. Fifteen cargoes are now due. In London trade is much depressed. Flour is 6d lower. Maize is very quiet. Barley is 6d lower. In oats business is steady.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN MARKET

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 22.—Wheat was steadily held; new western winter, 6s 0d; new spring, 6s 6d; receipts of wheat last week from Atlantic ports were 14,200 quarters, Pacific ports, 11,000; other sources 9600; receipts of corn, 56,900 quarters.

DELUDED IDEA.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Times' Foo Chow correspondent, illustrating the ignorant self delusion of the Chinese, instances the case of a young, intelligent Chinaman who was seven years at Yale and Harvard, and who asserts that the Chinese refrain from attacking the French from lofty motives. He says that the Chinese could blot out the French fleet to-morrow.

DE LESSEPS.

PARIS, Sept 22.—De Lesseps says: "I propose to visit Panama early in 1885 to investigate the section of the canal connecting the two oceans."

Cases number 305; deaths, 97, in the last twenty-four hours."

MORE CASES DEVELOPED.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—Since the last accounts, eleven fresh cases of cholera have been developed at Alicante, and six at Tarragona. Three deaths have occurred at latter and five at the former place.

RUSSIA

OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is reported that an outbreak of cholera has occurred near Odessa, Russia. The government is trying to suppress the knowledge of the fact.

DESTRUCTIVE FROST

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—Frost in this district has destroyed a considerable portion of the tobacco crop.

It is a bold statement to say that any medicine is "never known to fail," but it is stated emphatically by the proprietors of HUNT'S [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY. This medicine is a specific for diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder, and has a reputation of thirty years standing.

GENERAL NEWS.

Why Pension Commissioner Dudley Resigned his Office.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK

A Romantic Young Lady Steals $60,000 Worth of Valuables—A Bear Day in Wall Street—The Record of a Day

THE RESIGNATION OF DUDLEY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The resignation of General Dudley, commissioner of pensions, was not a matter of surprise to well informed persons, although previous reports that he would soon retire from that position have been persistently denied. When General Dudley was appointed commissioner of pensions by President Garfield, it was an understanding, in which Secretary Kirkwood acquiesced, that he should wholly control the large patronage of the bureau. The incoming of the present administration, and the appointment of Mr Teller as secretary of the interior, changed the relation of things, and although Commissioner Dudley demanded the enforcement of the contract made with the Garfield administration, he was given to understand most forcibly that Secretary Teller proposed thereafter to take charge of the pension bureau himself. This created friction with the result that the feeling between Secretary Teller and General Dudley has not been of the most cordial character.

While in some regards General Dudley has made a fair commissioner, he has failed in the most important essentials, and while his official department has always been distinguished for courtesy, charges of favoritism on one hand and persecution on the other have combined to render him rather unpopular. He resigns to enter the banking business, as a partner in the house of Mr Bateman, the gentleman who preferred the serious charges against Judge Advocate General Swaim. It is believed that Deputy Commissioner Clarke will be promoted to the commissionership.

PRAISE FOR CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—A Herald editorial says: "What is known as 'admission day' has just been celebrated throughout the state of California, with much jubilation and suitable ceremony, as was fitting. The admission of California to the Union introduced into the sisterhood of states new and powerful elements of greatness. The gold, wheat, wool and fruits of California have made her rich, and the character of her people, chosen from the brain and brawn of all other states, has made her powerful. With a realty and personalty valued at more than $600,000,000, and a state debt of only $3,000,000, California presents a favorable business statement. In the many serious conflicts with corruption of which she has been the scene she has afforded an example dignified and honorable, and worthy of being followed. Afflicted by dangerous elements, in the exchange as well as on the sand lots of San Francisco, the people of California have never permitted these to gain the supremacy, to her detriment. She may well be proud of her Argonauts, and the whole country should be proud of their works."

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Superintendent Thompson of the railway mail bureau has returned, after a visit of inspection to railway routes west of Omaha. He traveled over the Union, Central and Northern Pacific railroads and made many suggestions looking to the improvement of the mail service which were as a rule, immediately put in practice by the officials.

The term of C. E. Coon as acting secretary of the treasury, under special designation of the president, will expire Wednesday. No warrants for the payment of money from the treasury can be issued after that day, unless the existing vacancy in the office of secretary shall be filled before that date. It is expected however that the appointment will be made to-morrow or next day. Friends of Mr Coon are still sanguine that he will receive the appointment.

The acting secretary of the treasury has directed the collector of customs at New York to admit free of duty the Ascot cup won by Keene's Foxhall, which has been in the custody of the collector for nearly two years.

The issue of standard silver dollars for the week ending September 20th was 442,195; corresponding period last year, 518,499.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept 22.—[Special.]—The Morning Journal says: "The startling announcement that a case of genuine yellow fever had been discovered in the city yesterday was made to the board of health by Dr. Thomas L. Miranda. Dr Husted, Sanitary Superintendent Day and Dr Conant went to the hotel Espanol, and on the fourth floor found Domingo Morals, a young planter from the Canary islands, lying in the last stage of the terrible disease. His skin was a vivid yellow, and his temperature ranged as high as 108 degrees. His lips were bleeding and the dreaded black vomit had commenced. The man was too far gone to give any account of himself. From people in the hotel it was learned that he arrived on Tuesday from Havana and was on his way to his home in the Canary islands and intended to sail for Europe on Saturday. During the voyage he complained frequently of feeling ill, but no one had the slightest suspicion of the nature of his disease."

CANNED GOODS SAFE

NEW YORK, Sept 22.—[Special.]—Brevet Major General J. P. Hawkins has written an article to the American Grocer on the use of canned goods in the army. He says army posts throughout the Union have been supplied with canned meats, fruits, vegetables and preserves for twenty years. "Many of the posts are located where it is not possible to cultivate gardens. As a class, army people are relatively more numerous here than in any other country. Notwithstanding this large consumption he has never known or heard of a case of canned goods poison in the army. He states that goods of no particular packing are used. They are purchased all over the country, but usually from the packer or manufacturer, who converts the crude material into the canned article. He has inquired of army surgeons, and they tell him they have no knowledge of any cases of poisoning from canned goods.

A POOR YEAR FOR DEATH

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Last year was remarkable for the decrease in the actual mortality of the city, as compared with 1881 and 1882. The weather of the summer was unusually favorable to health, and deaths among young children showed a heavy decline. This year the mortality has declined, even as compared with 1883. The prospect is that the death rate for 1884 will be lower than it has been since 1879. The number of deaths for 37 weeks up to September 13, was 25,018, or about 600 less than for the corresponding period of 1883.

A GREAT BUILDING PLANNED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The World says: "A syndicate of very wealthy people here and elsewhere has been organized to erect a mammoth building in this city, to cost $2,000,000, which will be a great surprise to theater goers. It will include a theater, concert rooms, restaurants, music hall, dancing pavilions, roof and garden restaurants, and also every appliance of a fashionable and thoroughly equipped club house."

AN EARTHQUAKE THEORY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Prof. C. G. Rockwood of the college of New Jersey, who has been studying the phenomena of the recent earthquake, says in the Journal of Science that they are probably due to geological disturbances under New York bay. Professor Rockwood has given much attention to the subject of earthquakes.

SOME COMETS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 22.—The comet discovered September 17 by Dr. Wolf of Zurich was observed to-night, at Vanderbilt university. The comet discovered by Barnard July 16 was also viewed to-night. It has lately shown a wonderful increase of brilliancy, when, according to theory, it should have almost faded from view.

WRECK TO BE RAISED

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Sept. 22.—The steam tug Rescue, with two pontoons of 175 tons floating capacity each, arrived at the wreck of the Tallapoosa this morning. When the other pontoons have arrived from the wreck of the State of Maine, an attempt will be made to raise the sunken vessel.

THE MOROSINI AFFAIR

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The charge preferred against Victoria Morosini, now Mrs. Hulskamp, by her brother, Attilio Morosini, for the alleged stealing of a diamond breastpin, was dismissed. No one from either side was in court to-day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Until a late hour last night the block in Twelfth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, in which live Mr and Mrs Ernest Hulskamp, was crowded with promenaders, who were waiting for a chance to see the celebrated couple. They were disappointed, for the young bride and husband, accompanied by Mr Hulskamp, Sr., and Mrs. Stope, were out of town.

A NEW PASTOR.

A SALMON CANNER SPEAKS.

What He Says of Alleged Cases of Poisoning from Canned Salmon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Bulletin to-night publishes the following communication from a Columbia river canner now in the city: In the telegraphic columns of the Bulletin of the 16th inst. was an article from New York, wherein was told a story of a family of four persons having been poisoned by eating canned salmon. As such cases are often reported from different parts of the country by ignorant persons, the matter would have carried no special significance had not your reporter given the names of the particular brand, the agents and the packers. Until assured of the truth or falsity of the suspicions, nothing would have been required to be said further, as the utter falsity of the supposed salmon poisoning was immediately shown.

THE TRADE INJURED

Similar charges against canned goods have often been made, and with just as little foundation as in this case. Many ignorant people are misled, and general injury to the canned goods business is done, as many persons may see the charges and not the refutation of them. The particular brand of salmon that your reporter has given so wide knowledge of, is one of the oldest brands packed on the Columbia river, one of the widest distribution, and one of the most successful, commanding always the highest price, because of its established reputation of over ten years' standing. Metallic poisoning from salmon packed under the Eureka star brand is simply impossible, as no solder is used inside the cans, while the oil in the fish itself would also preclude any action upon the surface of the can. When New York physicians or other people don't know a "solution of sugar of lead" from vinegar, it is evident that as yet the fools are not all dead.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A GIRL STEALS A FORTUNE.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—A 17-year-old girl of Farmington on Friday packed her valise with diamonds, and negotiable bonds to the amount of $60,000 belonging to her mother, a wealthy lady, and started for Boston to meet a young lad and elope with him. She was arrested and the valuables recovered and the girl taken home.

The amount stolen was divided as follows: Fifteen thousand dollars in bank bills, $1000 in United States bonds, $7000 worth of diamonds, $35,000 worth of railroad stocks. The girl's name is Sadie Robinson, and she is a daughter of C. E. Robinson. Sadie's mind has been filled with nonsensical ideas about runaway marriages. When charged with stealing the valuables she first denied it, but subsequently confessed. She said that on Friday morning she took the valise with her when she went to school in Boston and gave it to a woman. She told a blood-curdling story of having her life threatened unless she complied with the demand for money. She said she met the woman in the Albany station and gave her the valise containing the valuables. The valise and valuables were recovered in a drug store where Sadie had left them, promising to call for them to-day. She confessed that she loved the young man whose name she refused to give, and had taken the money with the intention of eloping.

AN OUTRAGER LYNCHED

HERMANSVILLE, Miss., Sept. 22.—A brutal negro named Keifer broke into the residence of W. F— Saturday night and attempted to outrage his daughter. The cries of the girl brought the family to her assistance, and the negro fled. He was caught and lynched.

THE PRIZE RING

SOFT GLOVE CONTEST AT ST LOUIS

ST LOUIS, Sept 22.—A soft glove contest took place to-night, at Union base ball park, between John King of Pittsburg and Patsy Cardiff of Peoria, four rounds, marquis of Queensbury rules, for gate money. The men entered the ring about 10 o'clock, after four set-tos by local boxers, and immediately went to work. The first round was about even, and nothing notable occurred. In the second round Cardiff forced the fighting, and knocked King down—heavy exchange on the face and body was then made, and the round ended in Cardiff's favor. In the third round Cardiff again forced the fighting, and King went down under a heavy blow under the left arm. More heavy exchanges followed, decidedly in favor of Cardiff. In the fourth round King showed great weakness, and Cardiff went to his corner and called him out. King responded, but acted mainly on the defensive. Cardiff again forced the fighting and showered heavy and rapid blows on his opponent. About this point, and half a minute before time was called, Tom Kelly, King's backer, entered the ring, separated the men and ordered Cardiff to his corner. The police then interfered. The referee decided in favor of Cardiff, and the crowd dispersed.

Terrific Explosion of a Thresher Boiler Near Salem.

ARRIVAL OF JAMES G. BENNETT

Big Fire at Eureka, Nevada—A Columbia River Canner Defends Canned Salmon—The Usual Budget of News

SALEM, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—On Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock the boiler of the traction engine of Daniel Clark, which was engaged in driving a threshing machine on his place, exploded. The engineer, Eugene McAllister, was blown from forty to fifty feet from the engine, receiving a fearful wound in his right leg, and being severely scalded about the head and breast, from the effects of which he died this morning about 8 o'clock. A fragment of the boiler struck Newman DeLaney, a colored man who was standing near by, in the leg, inflicting a very serious wound. DeLaney also had two fingers broken, and was badly scalded. The engine was completely blown to pieces, some parts of it being found over 200 yards from where the engine stood.

McAllister was 23 years of age and leaves a young wife to mourn his loss. The cause of the accident is unknown.

CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF JAMES GORDON BENNETT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—James Gordon Bennett, accompanied by Charles Nordhoff, of the New York Herald, arrived to-day. He was met at the ferry by John W. Mackay, who later in the day pointed out to him the principal features of the city. The train on which he arrived narrowly escaped a serious disaster. As it pulled out of Port Costa station it ran into a train of wheat cars. Mackay and Dye, in Bennett's private car, were thrown to the floor, and Bennett was badly shaken, but managed to keep his seat. Four wheat cars were wrecked, and the engine of the passenger train was damaged. No one was seriously hurt.

AND STILL ANOTHER DEFAULTER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—John W. Harbourne, of the firm of Billings, Harbourne & Co., book and stationery dealers, in this city, is reported missing. Several reasons are assigned for his absence. One of the rumored causes is that he mortgaged his house for $1800 and then forged a release and made another mortgage, on which he obtained $7500 more and then fled from the city. Other rumors are that he has been swindled out of all his money by wildcat mining shares, and that he has run away rather than face his creditors. At his place of business those working on the books refuse to give any information in the matter.

REV IZER'S FIRST SERMON

[Special.]—The installation yesterday of Rev Mr. Izer as pastor of the Howard Methodist church is noticed by all the papers this morning. The Call prints a synopsis of Mr. Izer's sermon and adds: "The new pastor is certainly a fluent speaker, and proves quite an acquisition to the California conference as an orator. Unlike the average western minister Dr Izer stands perfectly erect, and keeps his arms off the bible and the pulpit." The Chronicle says: "Mr Izer is small in stature, boyish in appearance, with dark complexion and a strong nervous system. He has a large mouth, a deep, sonorous voice, with frequent rising inflections.

IMMIGRATION

[Special.]—Since the first of January the business of the immigration association has almost doubled. Immigration has also increased in like ratio. Of this number twenty-five stopped at interior stations. During the month of August the net gain to this city by overland travel was 532; by sea the net loss was 319, and by the same route the net gain was 213.

A GOOD COMPARISON.
The Rev. Mr. Bonlatt, a well known Methodist clergyman, residing at Naples, draws the following amusing but apt comparison between Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburg, Pa., and a ferret.
A ferret, when placed at the entrance of a rat hole, enters the aperture, travels along the passage, seizes upon the rat, exterminates his existence and draws the animal a defunct carcass to the light. And in like manner have I found Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge to operate upon worms, those dreadful and dangerous tormenters of children. This remedy, like the ferret, enters the aperture of the mouth, travels down the gullet, hunts round the stomach and lays hold of the worms, shakes the life out of the reptiles, sweeps clean their den and carries their carcasses clear out of the system. This, at least, has been the effect of the Vermifuge upon my children.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 23, 1884.

INCENDIARISM!

Two great incendiary fires, which have destroyed a very large amount of property, and threatened the total destruction of the business portion of the city, are a sufficient admonition that it is time to take summary action to clear the city of the scoundrels who are doing this most infamous work. What measures ought citizens to take? Organize at once, institute thorough and vigilant search of the city and force every man who cannot give proper account of himself to leave. Astoria was right in her treatment of similar scoundrels last year. Then, too, let there be more vigilance regarding all property, and particularly that on the river front where danger from incendiaries is greatest. It is beyond doubt that the city is infested with a gang of villains who would destroy it. Extra vigilance on the part of citizens may result in the capture of some of them in the very act of setting fires. They would be hanged at once to the nearest lamp post, as they deserve to be. The events of the last two nights show that the city is in great peril. It is apparent that owners of property must employ more watchmen and take greater precautions in all ways. It is high time, too, to shut up all the open places about the wharves and docks so that no access to them may be possible to tramps and incendiaries. There have been signal warnings. More precaution and increased vigilance must be employed if other and perhaps overwhelming disasters would be prevented.

ANOTHER WORD.

As stated yesterday THE OREGONIAN will issue double sheets four days and single sheets three days of the week. This method, in the present depressed state of the advertising business, will afford ample room for all news and other matter. The double sheet is intended to be the regular and permanent form of the paper. We had supposed it would be necessary to bring out the paper in that form every day, but depression of general business reduces advertisements below expectations, and we find that the use of the single sheet three days and of the double sheet four days in the week will answer present purposes. As business revives the single sheet issues will be dropped altogether. Readers, however, may rest assured that the smaller sheet will omit no part of the news of the day. A considerable portion of our advertisements is to be inserted only on alternate days, and these insertions, as a rule, will be made on the day when the larger sheet appears, thus opening in the smaller sheet ample space for the general news.

In making so important a change in the style and work of a newspaper there are many details which cannot at once be brought to perfection, as those who have practical knowledge of the business will readily understand. In ordering so large an outfit, consisting of so many varieties of type, and including so large a supply of the peculiar kinds of other material which a press like our new one requires, there are necessarily some omissions and mistakes; and in filling the order other omissions and mistakes are liable to occur. Some fonts of type are wanting entirely; others are not long enough, or are not fully "sorted up." In making such a change the advertisements of a paper must be reset, which requires much time. One thing that has been omitted is the material for the title and date line over each page of the paper. As the type beds are curved, material prepared expressly for these lines must be had from the makers of the press in New York. Many other little things, most of which only the practised eye of the printer sees, still need attention and will receive it in time. Our distance here from any complete supply depot of printing material makes it impossible to obtain at once, where so great a variety is needed, precisely what the conditions of such a change as THE OREGONIAN has made may be found to require.

BRIBERY IN ELECTIONS.

New Hampshire democrats demand in their platform a penalty of disfranchisement for the offense of buying and selling votes. The franchise is a privilege and trust bestowed and regulated by the commonwealth in its corporate and sovereign capacity, for the general welfare. It is not a universal and unalienable right. This is the doctrine which was recently promulgated by the United States supreme court. Abuse of this privilege does not begin and end with the individual, but acts injuriously upon society. Therefore when the individual voter abuses his trust by selling his ballot he ought to be deprived of it. The man who sells his vote is not fit to have one; neither is the purchaser. In more than one instance a single ballot has turned the scale and determined important questions of policy. New Hampshire is not the only state which suffers, though it has gained an unenviable notoriety in this respect. A venal vote may be found in every city and many of the smaller towns. In cities it is expected that a certain floating vote will be in the market, as to the shame of politics it must be said, it is expected that there will also be purchasers. All parties have yielded to this insidious influence until bribery is an accepted element in politics, and money is contributed to the campaign fund with a full knowledge of the use to which it will be put. The result is a perfectly natural one when the chosen representatives of the people have begun to apply the same system to the conventions, and now pay high prices to their associates when some rich man thinks it desirable to secure a nomination.

If the men who sell their votes would reflect for a moment they would see that they do themselves as well as society a great wrong. The men who sell their votes at popular elections are poor men, who are accustomed to complain of the disproportionate power in politics that is possessed by the rich, which is indeed one of the greatest evils in our system of government. By selling their votes these poor men become the enemies of their own class, for their venality augments the power of the rich. There are laws in most of the states imposing a severe penalty upon bribery, but they are practically a dead letter. Either the transactions are too well covered up to be found out, or so cleverly managed that the law is evaded, or else the persons interested to expose them are not good detectives. After every election the cry goes up of bribery somewhere. The complete exposure of specific cases, and the enforcement of the legal penalties would be a patriotic service in the benefits of which the poor men would enjoy the greatest share. It is not to be supposed that the penalty of disfranchisement would be any more easily or surely enforced than the penalty of existing laws, but the New Hampshire democrats, in making this demand, have strongly expressed their view of the evils of bribery. And the stand which they have taken ought to aid in arousing the moral sense of the country, so that good men in all parties will associate to drive the foul practice of buying and selling votes out of existence. It is as necessary for the protection of our republican form of government that the ballot should be uninfluenced by money, as that it should be unawed by force.

THE work at the fires of the last two nights has shown how indispensable to the city the fire service of the elevator company has become. Delivery of so many powerful and steady streams from the fireplugs was a service whose value could not be exaggerated. It prevented the spread of the fiercest fires that Portland has known for a long time. While the work of the fire engines was superb, yet it must be said that the fire service of the elevator company, so far as their mains extend, is of as much importance as that of the regular department. It is a most powerful auxiliary of the fire service of Portland, and is the greatest of recent additions to the means of securing the safety of the city.

A Fire Strikingly Similar to Sunday Night's Conflagration.

LOSS VERY NEARLY $100,000.

Splendid Work Saves the Starr Block from Going.

STRONG PROOF OF INCENDIARISM

Unparalleled Service by the Hydraulic Elevator Company—Great Excitement Over the Disaster.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night fire broke out in the Coloma dock, located between Oak and Pine Streets, and destroyed the structure, together with its contents no other loss or damage It was discovered by Capt. Van Aucken of the Stark street ferry, who sounded the four ominous whistles. He shouted to the reporters' room of THE OREGONIAN "It's at Ash street." This was telephoned to the central office, which tried to raise Two's company, but did not succeed. Then One's was telephoned to and responded quickly In the meantime the reporter, who telephoned the alarm, sent a messenger to Two's, and Policeman Nash tried to turn in an alarm from box 14 which failed to work Finally the reporter rushed down to the New Market, and finding policeman Brannan asked him to turn in an alarm which he did from box 15. All this while no indication of fire was visible from Front street, the docks presenting the customary dark appearance until two or three minutes after the general alarm was given

DISCOVERY OF THE BLAZE.

When the whistle first sounded two reporters of THE OREGONIAN rushed down the stair into the street, and down toward Ash street wharf, where it was at first supposed the fire was Reaching Pine street a faint light seen reflected upon the south end of the O. R. & N Co's warehouse showed the whereabouts of the incipient conflagration. Two or three other men arrived at the same time and all ran to the edge of the wharf where the flames were open to the river front. It was quite an magnificent sort of a bonfire at the very first, and no one of those who then saw it doubted that it would be quickly extinguished with little or no damage. But the wharf was dry and burned like kindling wood and, although the whistles of the ferryboat had been distinctly heard in one or two at least of the engine houses they only got ready and waited for a further alarm from the big bell, according to their orders Several precious minutes had elapsed and the fire was under full headway in the upper wharf before a stream from the first engine was thrown on the flames Then it was easily seen that the fight was to be a hard one, and could have only for its purpose the saving of the magnificent Starr block and the confining of the flames to the warehouse

INCENDIARY ORIGIN

There could be no doubt of the fire being of incendiary origin, for it was plain to all of the half dozen or more people who first arrived upon the scene. On the open wharf at the water's edge were piled a number of what appeared to be boxes, which had contained large panes of plate glass, and it was right up against the ends of these that the fire was started One or more of these boxes had been broken up evidently by the feet of the fire bug, and made a little pile not over three feet high and occupying scarcely the space of an ordinary barrel There were no buckets or any means of getting water at hand, or it could at least have been kept in check until the department arrived Several of the boxes and some boards lying around were thrown into the river by willing hands, and an effort was made to push the burning pile of kindling off the wharf, but it was too late The flames had eaten into the boxes, and, mounting to the floor above, were soon spreading over the entire warehouse The heat became intense and the dense smoke confined underneath the roof and forced to seek an outlet below well-nigh drove back the firemen before they were fairly at work

EXCITEMENT ON THE STREET

Even a larger crowd than that of Sunday night gathered to witness this second conflagration, and on all sides were heard excited and earnest talking concerning the origin of the fire and the punishment that should be meted out to the miscreant who had wantonly doomed to destruction so much valuable property. There was something akin to terror in the hearts of business men who watched others' property burning, not knowing when they should be called from their beds to witness the ruin of their own fortunes. Everyone seemed to feel that life itself was not safe when it was possible for a fire bug to apply the torch in the business part of this city, so early in the evening, and make good his escape before his act could be discovered. Could the scoundrel who committed this arson have been caught while the fire was in progress there would have been a case of lynching immediately, and the nearest lamp-post would have borne strange fruit for the rest of the night. There was no little excitement, too, caused by the fact that the Hydraulic Elevator company's works, which had rendered such effective service the previous night, were now adjoining a seething mass of flame and possibly in great danger Should their aid be cut off, the engines, everyone felt, would be powerless to handle the fire, and there is no telling where it would stop

THE FIRE FROM PINE STREET

At first three, and later five steamers playing on the burning warehouse from Pine street end, kept the flames entirely within bounds, and even saved a good portion of the flooring of the upper and lower wharves. The firemen worked like heroes, and seemed to feel neither smoke, heat nor weariness The experience of Sunday night had been most valuable, and not only the chief, but also the men profited well by it Two streams on the lower dock prevented any danger to those overhead, and thus allowed two other lines of hose to be taken right into the flames on the upper wharf The men at the nozzle shielded their faces by their wide brimmed helmets, while others threw buckets of water over them continually to prevent their clothes scorching A fifth stream between the wharf and the brick block effectually flanked the flames at this point. Soon after ten o'clock the entire fire was completely under control and an hour later there was little else than smouldering beams, rafters and heaps of embers here and there. The fire was well handled and the department deserve great credit, although there is room for much improvement as regards time Three minutes sooner upon the scene and the boys would not have found one-fourth the work to do.

AT OAK STREET.

The works of the Hydraulic company being on Oak street, a hose was run out of the engine room, and soon after several others were laid down the roadway to the wharf. The fire being at the north end of the building it was not possible for the streams to reach it, and the smoke poured out at the doors in such dense volumes that it was impossible for anyone to go inside. Several streams were directed toward the center of the long building from both the upper and lower floors, but for some time had no effect The firemen gradually but surely advanced till soon they were within reach of the streams. The huge volumes of black smoke pouring from the door on the upper floor were whirled aloft by the breeze, and allowed the firemen to approach close up to the building At 9.35 the fire-boat Veto bore down with her pumps at work, and floating along in front of the burning structure made fast at the lower end of the wharf. Shortly after the East Portland fire company crossed on the Stark street ferry and set their steamer on the pontoon, running their hose across Ball's boat house and up on the Oak street wharf, and soon had a fine stream playing on the fire. By this time the flames were bursting out under the end of the roof and the center of the warehouse was a glowing mass Then the numerous streams began to tell and the flames were beaten back and held in check, so that about fifty feet of the upper floor was saved, with a number of steam engines standing thereon. The fire was now under control, but the center of the building continued to burn fiercely till consumed, when the danger was over.

Several times the wind veered to the north and the smoke and flames came over toward the woodyard, on the opposite of the roadway, but this lasted only for brief intervals, and then the wind would suck down the roadway and send the flames out over the river, and the threatened danger was averted.

LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

The wharf was owned by D P Thompson, J N Dolph and C. A. Dolph, who are also owners of the Starr block. It was built in 1882 and cost between $18,000 and $19,000. Its dimensions are length 200 feet, depth 80 feet, and it was considered the best constructed wharf and warehouse along the river front. Insurance on the property is $10,000, of which $5000 is in Story's agency

The entire warehouse was occupied by Knapp, Burrell & Co, who had from $75,000 to $80,000 worth of agricultural implements, machinery, wagons, etc, stored therein, which are nearly a total loss. The insurance is $65,000, distributed as follows Sibson, Church & Co's agency—Guardian $7500, Sun $7500, Phenix of Brooklyn $5000 Hewett's agency, $10,000, Laidlaw's agency, $10,000, Hartford, $5000, Connecticut, $10,000.

Murphy, Grant & Co had $1000 worth of tarpaulins in the warehouse, which were destroyed, fully insured

NOTES.

W H Reynolds, who was holding the nozzle of one of the Hydraulic company's hose, had his knee badly hurt by a falling timber.

For more than two hours the elevator company supplied seventeen streams which played on the flames.

Much praise was awarded by property owners to Mr P F Morey, superintendent of the elevator works, for his personal efforts at the Sunday night fire, as well as last night.

Within ten minutes after the alarm was sounded seventy-five or more row-boats, sail-boats, canoes and shells were launched in the river opposite Ash street.

Streams were directed on the fire from every story of the Hydraulic company's building L. L. Hawkins organized a bucket brigade, and from the top of the building reached the top of the Starr block and wet the coping on the rear wall, which was becoming very hot.

The rear door on the ground floor of the Gutta Percha Company's store in the Starr block has been changed since the building was completed, and is without iron shutters. It took fire, and as it was about opposite the center of the warehouse, it was not possible for the fire companies to reach it. W F Bowers, agent for the Maltese Cross hose, was, however, equal to the occasion. He rolled out a lot of bundles of his hose ready hands stripped off the wrappers, and in a jiffy 800 feet was coupled, one end attached to a hydrant in the Elevator Company's works and the nozzle pushed out at a second story window The burning door was quickly extinguished and the stream was then turned on the burning warehouse, and was one of the most effective Bowers' improvised hose company consisted of T B Wilcox, Alfred Frank, Al Church Rob Caples and other old volunteer boys, and they acquitted themselves nobly

ESCAPED PUNISHMENT.—The grand jury yesterday returned "not a true bill" in the case of Thomas Allen, who was committed upon a charge of larceny in a dwelling, the articles taken being two blankets owned by his roommate, Oliver Peterson The latter had made arrangements to go to California, and was to start the night after the larceny was committed His blankets he had rolled up to take along, and Allen thought he needed them more than his room-mate He carried them out when Peterson was away, and buried them underneath a barn, where they were found by policeman Ward, who worked up the theft. Allen's idea was to conceal the blankets until Peterson had left the state, when he could claim them and use them as his own without fear of detection. For a time the penitentiary stared Allen in the face, but Peterson having regained his blankets cared nothing for the punishment of crime and left the city, leaving nothing for the grand jury but to do as stated above

HIS FIRST SHAVE.—Ding Wing, a Chinese merchant last evening entertained a number of his brother merchants at a costly and elaborate banquet at the Hung Fang Lan restaurant. The occasion of this magnificent spread was the shaving of the head of the infant son of Ding Wing, who was a month old yesterday The average white man has to wait until he is well along in his teens before he has any necessity for using a razor, and he don't have any champagne blow out on the occasion either When a Chinese boy is one month old his head is shaved and a bladder drawn over it, and as his head grows the bladder bursts and the cue sprouts forth The first shave is made the occasion of a banquet and the guests are expected to make the host a handsome present in coin for the newly shaven baby, with which a bank account is started to his credit. This is the most pleasant feature of the affair for the baby, as the razor always pulls and he cannot take part in the feast.

LOST AT ESMOND FIRE —The following articles Lady's gold watch (key winder, gold Japanese set, pin and earrings gold thimble, an ancient gold bracelet, precious stones, set of Roman gold jewelry, set garnet, set green scarabæ, a traveling clock, one embroidered black cashmere cloak, a blue foulard silk dress, black silk waist, jet trimmings; black grenadine dress, cloak trimmed with fur, rubber waterproof in case, blue and gray flannel wrapper, pair blue worsted shoes, pair gold eye glasses with gold chain, lady's traveling hat with feathers, pair gentleman's slippers, sun umbrella, silver handle satin mantle, jet trimmings, marine glass in black leather, pair blood stone sleeve buttons set in gold A suitable reward will be paid for the return of any of these articles, at the First National bank

NORTHERN PACIFIC TICKET OFFICE —Preparing for the opening of the Kalama branch of the Northern Pacific, tickets for all points between Portland and Victoria have been placed in the general western passenger agency, corner Front and Washington. Tickets will also be on sale at the new passenger station, corner Front and G, but not at the Ash street dock after the road is opened The train for the Sound will probably leave here about 2 P M., reaching Tacoma about 9. It will leave Tacoma about 10 P. M., reaching here early next morning. A Pullman sleeper will be attached to the train

MUSIC FOR THE FAIR.—The managers of the Mechanics' fair have closed a contract with the Fourteenth infantry band of Vancouver, to furnish the music for the fair They are to give an instrumental concert every afternoon and evening. The engagement of this band will insure good music which is one of the enjoyable and attractive features of the exposition. Applications for space are still coming in, and Superintendent Allen is begining to wonder how he can make two times two count eight in the assignment of the space not already engaged.

THE STAGE.

BARRETT AS CARDINAL RICHELIEU —On the occasion of Mr. Barrett's first appearance before this public, the acknowledged masterpiece of Lord Lytton was presented. New Market then was crowded to repletion, and the representation was an artistic triumph of which any actor should feel proud Last evening "Richelieu" was again presented What was written of the former production can be repeated even with greater emphasis. A numerous, fashionable and, as the interest of the piece deepened, a very enthusiastic audience crowded our popular temple of Thespis. No element that could contribute directly or in a remote degree to the success of the drama was deficient. From rise to final fall of curtain, the play ran with smoothness and unusual brilliancy.

Bulwer's reputation as a playwright reposes almost solely upon three plays by him Reference is made to "Richelie," "Money," and "Lady of Lyons" It is an indisputable fact that the present age has not produced an author who has presented the world with three plays of such undoubted merit Of the trio, "Richelieu" stands pre-eminently at the head. It is a classical production, and worthy of taking rank along with the creations of the immortal Shakespeare, and is included in the repertoire of the leading tragedians of the country Beyond all cavil, "Richelieu" is the most ambitious and best constructed play ever penned by Lord Lytton With almost every male star on the English stage, the character of the crafty priest-stateman has been a favorite ever since the first presentation of the drama Bulwer, in portraying the prominent traits of the subtle priest and far-sighted French politician, whom Voltaire justly regards as the parent of Gaulish civilization, make love of country the ruling, predominant master passion of the cardinal's breast. The lofty ambition of that potent prelate, was, in no sense a purely personal or selfish one It took in him a higher flight, and a more comprehensive range He was ambitious of France His priestly heart swelled in pride at the glory of her past history, her triumphs in arts and sciences, her religious power, and the promise of her illustrious future. He was at all times, conscious of the dangers that beset the ship of state and he knew that he alone could save her from hopeless shipwreck His steady and experienced hand only could control the helm of spiritual and temporal power, and steer the vessel past the hidden rocks of peril, and the treacherous quicksand safe into the haven of peace and prosperity Inspired by a lofty patriotism, and moved by the mighty purpose to redeem his beloved country, he felt that "Richelieu" was France His last thought was of his country "I have recreated France," he exclaims with a warm patriotic fervor And again "Oh, France, that I love so well" On his deathbed he was visited by the king, to whom he exclaims in a voice, weakened and muffled by illness and age "Sire in taking leave of your majesty, I have the consolation of leaving your kingdom more powerful than it was before your enemies debased it Impartial history fails to coincide with those who object to Bulwer's great play, because it does not present more of the vindictive, crafty and unscrupulous phase of Richelieu's character It is the custom to represent the cardinal as a very old man—one verging on the scriptural three score and ten, and lapsing into rapid dotage Nevertheless, he was born September, 1585 and died December, 1642, and consequently was a little over 57 years of age, when for him, that fever called living was over at last." True he was feeble—weak with the shadows of years but the infirmity was more directly the result of intense incessant study for the bishopric of Lucon, which fell to his lot to retain in the family To a star actor, the character of Richelieu is always a most grateful creation However, a good actor may fail in the part for reasons of temperament.

Barrett is peculiarly adapted to realize, in a high artistic sense, the ideal of the gifted author He is a man of careful, severe study, possessing an active brain and a quick, unerring dramatic instinct. Probably in the requisite qualities of intellectual grasp and sympathy, no American actor is more eminently fitted by native talent and acquired grace, to give a powerful, impressive and effective rendition of the great French priest than Barrett. In this pictorial and sympathetic work of dramatic art —famous the world over for justness of ideal and beauty of execution—Barrett attained to that height of venerable majesty, sad isolation, pathetic and lonely greatness of spiritual and temporal state upon which the historical and dramatic character of "Richelieu" stands evenly poised There is scarcely a tragedian on the American stage who in acting this part, can supply, as Barrett supplies it, the element of magnetic sorrowfulness, not weak, not austere, but impressive and beautiful It is Barrett's felicitous adaptability of nature in this particular which constitutes the great charm of his "Richelieu" Beneath even the occasional mood of a somewhat grimly humorous banter, into which the prelate-statesman lapses, this attribute is seen to play—not unlike lucent night amidst the gloomy pines, while their lofty tops still glow and shimmer in the departing rays of the setting sun Epitomizing, Barrett's "Richelieu" is an intellectual, wise, just, fiery old man, exercising his powers to protect weakness and innocence. The actor was last night, in happy accord with his work and the occasion His delivery of the threat of papal excommunication commonly known as the great "malediction scene," commencing, "Around her form I draw the awful circle," etc.—by which it is customary to test the power of a representative of this part —was superb. It was thoroughly electrical in effect, and awoke a storm of enthusiasm. Critics, or the casual spectator who estimates Barrett's Richelieu by "points," however misses its true greatness, its imaginative atmosphere, its touches of poetry, its consistent identification of the artist with the ideal and the perfect union of a thousand minute traits and details and elegancies into one symmetrical form. That it is in a certain sense theatrical is true but that is the obvious necessity of the drama. The part was filled and rendered to its proper and exquisite proportions. Rugged strength, gentleness, pathos, exalted patriotism and religious zeal all permeate this noble character and illumines its darker and hidden nature It was a grand impersonation

Tributary parts were entrusted to competent and experienced hands. As the season advances the consciousness grows on the public that Mr Barrett has surrounded himself with a well working support. Particularizing seems almost superfluous.

Miss Wainwright gave a most intelligent interpretation of Julie de Mortimer Her reading of the lines was forcible and effective, heightened by tasteful costuming, a graceful figure and a willowy elegance of movement. Chevalier de Mauprat, found a splendid representative in Louis Jones, bold, chivalrous, generous, impulsive and mellowed by a lover-like tenderness. His figure and magnificent voice added force and fascination to the character F C Mosley gave a very acceptable rendition of "Borondas." The more subordinate characters deserve compliment and commendation—Miss Minnie Monk, as Marion de Lorome," J M Sturgeon, as "Francois," B. G Rogers, as Joseph, S E. Springer as Louis XIII.

Mr Barrett won several enthusiastic calls, and the curtain rose on several climax scenes. Mr James deservedly shared the honors showered on the favorite tragedian

To-night the great tragedy of "Francesca Da Rimini" will be produced, Mr. Barrett appearing in his great creation of "Lanciotto."

A WELL KNOWN MAN MURDERED.

The following item is contributed by Dr S. W. Dodd of Scio, this state, with the information that the murdered man "has several brothers and sisters in Oregon, and was a son of ex-Governor Jackson of Missouri.

TOMBSTONE, A. T, Sept. 5 —A messenger from the Mexican state of Sonora this morning reports the killing of Lycurgus Jackson. On last Sunday night Jackson, accompanied by a Mexican boy, left Cumpas for San Juan, where he was engaged in mining. The next day the boy returned with the information that when twenty miles out Jackson was shot by parties in ambush, the boy making his escape under cover of darkness. Word was at once sent to Nacasari, Jackson's headquarters, and a party headed by C. T Cutler went out and brought in the remains. Jackson's watch, valued at $400, his arms, spurs and other valuables, had been taken by the assassins. The murdered man was well known all over the coast, having come to California in the early days. He was 54 years of age and a native of Missouri, and was said to be a relative of Governor Jackson of that state

WHY CHINESE WERE HIRED —A hop grower at Butteville writes to THE OREGONIAN as follows "A great many papers on this coast are condemning the employment of Chinese in the hop fields The writers of these articles will probably view the matter in a different light when they are informed that after all the help available—whites, Chinese and Indians—has been mustered into the hop fields of Oregon and Washington, still a considerable part of the crop must spoil this season for want of pickers"

OLDEST MAN IN THE STATE —A correspondent at Lebanon writes David Carnes of Waterloo, is said to be the oldest man in Linn county and in all probability the oldest man in the state He is 101 years old, and served in the war of 1812. He moves around with considerable activity and bids fair for several years more.

POLICE COURT —Robert Blusky, tried last Saturday on a charge for vagrancy, came up for sentence He had deposited $40 as bail. He was fined $25, and the balance returned to him on condition that he leave the city He is respectably connected at the east, but appears to be a weak sister mentally and physically Jack Bloodworth, the "bad boy from Bodie," who was gunning after a man during the burning of the Esmond, was fined $10 for carrying a concealed weapon The statement that he was carrying his pistol in his hand was evidently incorrect. John Murphy, a vag, was sent below for twenty days. Tom Bernheim, once a decent fellow but now a victim to whisky, was fined $10 for using abusive and obscene language

KALAMA DEPOT GROUNDS.—A force of men are at work ballasting the N P track between the freight and passenger stations on North Front street. Gravel is being largely used and the work is being well done. A single track extends from the freight station to a junction with the west side track. From this is a main track to G street with a side track the same distance The little passenger station is in the hands of the painters and is well along The Third street bridge across Couch lake is fast being torn down and is out of use. Couch lake will make a poor skating pond this winter, a high growth of weeds having come up in places not yet filled North Front street should be improved before winter, or it will be next to impassable.

TEAL'S CATTLE CASE.—It will be remembered that two years ago Joseph Teal of this city entered into contract with one Bilby of Kansas City, whereby the latter agreed to feed and care for 2509 head of cattle belonging to Teal, at so much a head, during the winter The weather was severe and Bilby had a bad contract on his hands. Many of the cattle died, and the next spring those that lived were nearly worthless. Teal brought suit against Bilby, in the United States court for the western district of Missouri, for damages in the sum of $256,000. The verdict was against him Recently he appealed the case to the United States supreme court, and yesterday received word that it had been docketed.

FIRM SIDEWALK —The work of plastering the lower story of H W Corbett's new block at the corner of Fourth and Morrison is completed and the fixtures are being put up The sidewalk of artificial stone will be completed in a few days and promises to be the best in the city, as it is laid on a concrete foundation. This concrete foundation forms a roof of the cellar under the sidewalk. It is formed on a ground arching and is self-supporting and forms a solid foundation for the artificial stone sidewalk which will consequently not be liable to settle or crack. The plastering of the upper stories will be completed in about two weeks.

BRACELET RECOVERED —A lot of valuable jewelry, watch, bracelets, etc., belonging to Mrs J H Hall, a guest at the Esmond, was lost at the burning of that building. Yesterday Captain Gritzmacher and Policeman Barry found one of the bracelets in possession of an apprentice on board the British bark Alpheta, lying at Flanders' dock. The lad at first denied having any of the jewelry, but on being threatened with arrest, he produced one bracelet. He said it was thrown out on the awning and he picked it up. It is suspected that some of his mates know where the rest of the jewelry is.

VAGRANTS ARRESTED.—Four vagrants were arrested last evening by the police. John Day begged of Chief Parrish, and was promptly locked up Lawrence Miller, for begging, was run in by policeman Barton, and John Stanton and Jas. O'Brien were captured by officer Putnam. There seems to have been a great influx of vags here lately, and they have been persistently begging for several days past. It is safe to say that nearly all these tramps are unworthy of charity, and every citizen will be doing his duty by securing the arrest of any one begging from him. The city must and shall be cleared of these scoundrels

TO THE THEATER —The Vancouver people will be able to attend the theater this evening, as the Lurline will leave Vancouver at 6.30 and return after the performance.

"One Nail Drives Out Another,"

Is a french saying that finds exemplification in the way one disease will substitute itself for another and graver one, in very many cases. Liver disease, for instance, will soon induce blood disorders, throat ailments, skin affections, and eventually, because of impoverished blood, consumption itself, unless, indeed, it be treated in its incipiency and early progress by Dr Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which acts as a specific in these ailments, accomplishing a rapid cure by its powerful alterative action upon the great organs of the body.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation after its many years of test, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case, restores natural color to gray or faded hair preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff, prevents the hair falling off or changing color, keeps it soft, pliant lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye FOR THE WHISKERS

Colors them brown or black, as desired, and is the best dye, because it is harmless; produces a permanent natural color; and, being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

PREPARED BY R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Enthusiasm for Blaine Steadily Increasing.

ALL EYES TURNED TOWARD OHIO

The Democrats Make a Pitiful Appeal for Funds—Carl Schurz Interviewed on the Situation—News and Gossip.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 22.—Blaine slept late this morning, after the fatigue of yesterday, and breakfasted in his room. After breakfast he received callers for three hours, among them some of the most prominent business men of Philadelphia. At 1 o'clock he went for a drive in Fairmount park. A large crowd had gathered in the hotel corridors, and around Chestnut street front, but Blaine slipped out, quietly, by the Ninth street exit

The Union League proposes to give him a reception this afternoon, but this part of the programme will probably be abandoned, for want of time. In the evening he will review a parade from the Union League club house, and after the review will return to New York. Senator Don Cameron was among the first to call upon Blaine. James M. Scovel was also among the callers.

PUBLIC RECEPTION

About 3 Blaine and party returned from the drive to the park After luncheon Blaine proceeded to the Union League club house for a public reception. This took place in the large assembly room. Blaine was attended by a committee of thirty of the younger members of the league, in evening dress. Thousands of people streamed through the room until half-past four, when the reception terminated and Blaine drove back to the Continental hotel for dinner

While the party was still at dinner Senator Don Cameron came to bid Blaine goodbye As soon as it was known in the hotel that Blaine had returned from the Union League, the guests began to gather in groups in the corridor leading to his rooms, and just as dinner ended some ladies gently pushed open the door far enough to see the distinguished guest and candidate, and stood there gazing at him When Blaine's attention was called to this, he turned from the gentlemen with whom he was talking and shook hands with the ladies.

At about 7:30 P M. Blaine, protected on one side by Elkins, and on the other by President Baker of the league, made his way through the usual crowd to his carriage, and was driven to the private entrance of the club house, where again the police had to hold the people in check while he made his way into the building. The club house was relatively more crowded than the street, and Blaine was again compelled to undergo the handshaking ordeal.

BLAINE REVIEWS THE PARADE.

At a few minutes past 8 Mr Benson, first vice president of the league, requested all but Blaine and his party to withdraw from the room, which was becoming close. This request was complied with, slowly, and while the gentlemen in the room were leaving there were others begging to be allowed a word with Blaine, but Benson was compelled to be inexorable.

Blaine was then escorted to a platform erected in front of the building, where he reviewed the parade. As the head of the procession, led by General Hartranft, as chief marshal, passed the stand, it was enthusiastically applauded. From the Union League club house one could see a mile and a half down Broad street. The procession filled the whole of this space, and during the whole time it was passing Blaine remained on the stand. The torches, appearing in the distance, were like a solid mass of moving fire, and could be seen filing into Broad street at the lower end. All the clubs wore neat uniforms and moved in military order, and the marching was admirable. Each club as it passed the stand gave "Three cheers for James G Blaine" or "for James G Blaine, our next president," and Mr Blaine, in each instance, removed his hat and bowed

The young republicans of Philadelphia, a body of quite young gentlemen, were especially demonstrative They cheered in college boys style as they passed, and were in turn loudly cheered by the crowd

The mayor expressed the opinion that there were more than 30,000 men marching, and he believed half the population of Philadelphia were out looking at them. It was understood there would be no speaking, so no demand was made for a speech

OFF FOR NEW YORK

At 9 15 the whole procession was still in full force, when Blaine bowed repeatedly and left the stand. Upon entering the club house he took some refreshments, after which he passed out, and amid the most enthusiastic cheering entered a carriage and was driven rapidly to the depot, and left for New York at 9.35, on a special train

NEW YORK, Sept 23.—A special train over the Pennsylvania road conveyed Blaine and party from Philadelphia. It made but one stop—at Elizabeth The trip was made in less than two hours.

THE SCOTT LIQUOR LAW.

[Th]e Democratic Supreme Court of Ohio About to Declare it Void

CLEVELAND Sept. 22.—[Special]—The Ohio supreme court, which meets to-day, after the usual summer vacation, will have up soon for decision the question of the constitutionality of the Scott law Its action will have a bearing [on] the politics of the state, because a majority [of] the members are democratic, and because the democrats secured the election of their candidate last fall on a pledge that the Scott law would be nullified The supreme court in Ohio has never been prostituted for political purposes. There was a time, when it was republican, when a decision upon an almost similar case would have benefited the republicans, but republican members on the bench declared the Pond law unconstitutional, nevertheless. There is [no]t much faith in the integrity of the present bench to withstand the party [illegible]y. The situation is briefly this; Under the pledge above mentioned republican brewers and saloon keepers of the state carried their entire strength over to the democrats and gave them the state It was at first thought the legislature would redeem the pledge by repealing the law, but its enactment proved so popular as a revenue measure that the legislature were fearful of the result, and contented themselves with modifying its provisions, without changing any of its essential features. This has not been satisfactory to the liquor men, and they are clamorous for their pound of flesh The case which went to the supreme court failed to accomplish the purpose for which the issue was joined, and the decision rendered left the law still operative A new case, sent up from Hamilton, has been prepared with a view of giving the court a technicality on which they can hang a decision against the law

SALOON MEN DISSATISFIED.

The dilly-dallying course of the legislature, and the failure of the first case, caused republican liquor men to assert their intention to return to their old party ranks.
